

Sampler Lecture 4, Azurite:

Questions...

Q1: Besides Azurite, what other crystals work to manipulate negativity directly, according to what the author of these courses knows?

Q2: In the context of the Principle of Densification, what can be said about a physical body that is diseased?

Q3: What happens to a light frequency that is moving into greater density?

Q4: Where does the light Azurite works with come from?

Q5: What do the nodules on Azurite's circumference do?

Q6: What happens to light that gets pulled into Azurite?

Q7: What happens to the positive aspects of a light frequency as light moves into Azurite? And Why? And where does it go?

Q8: What do you think happens to the positive aspects of light that are given off?

Q9: What happens to the densest most negative aspects of a light frequency at the centre of Azurite?

Q10: Which chakra is Azurite indigenous to?

Q11: How does Azurite help the third-eye chakra?

Q12: What colour is Azurite? How does this affect your decision to purchase a piece?

Q13: What is the ideal structural configuration for purchasing a piece of Azurite?

Answers...

A1: Only Black Tourmaline.

A2: A diseased physical body is dense to the point of blocking light flow.

A3: The frequency's higher and more positive aspects cannot journey into greater density, so they split away as the frequency fragments. The negative aspects continue to journey into greater density.

A4: Azurite works with whatever light is flowing in its local area.

A5: Each nodule pulls a set frequency or range of frequencies into the stone from the light flowing by and begins to densify that light.

A6: Light frequencies are moved into deeper parts of the stone. The action that takes place is that light moves into progressively denser vibration as it nears the centre of the stone.

A7: The positive aspect of a frequency cannot withstand the shift into greater density, and so, splits away from the lower aspects of the frequency. It is not directed anywhere and is simply given off. It exits the stone.

A8: Light, given off by Azurite, returns to the flow of light outside the stone to be directed within the bodily form by the Etheric Magnetic Field, hopefully to its intended target bodily part.

A9: The negative aspect assumes its truth, which is nothing, and disappears.

A10: Third-eye chakra.

A11: Azurite removes the negative or dense aspect from light frequencies and makes them available. Placing the stone on the third-eye will clean up the light used to create thought-forms.

A12: Azurite is dark cobalt blue. If it is not dark cobalt blue, don't buy it.

A13: Dark cobalt blue, roundish, with clearly defined nodules.
